THE RULES

· Create a single election district or a full five-district plan.

· Each school board district should have a population of around 21,000 to 23,000

· The largest district should be no more than ~2,200 people greater than the smallest district.

Use the census block grouping map to calculate your election districts.

ABOUT THE BLOCKS

Each of these blocks is drawn within the RCSD census blocks and block groups, following major roads, neiighborhoods and natural boundaries where available. The numbers are a rounded calcualation based on the final census data adjusted by the State of California.
